

THE MACDONALD-LAURIER INSTITUTE FOR PUBLIC POLICY

“True North in Canadian Public Policy”

The University of Pennsylvania’s “Think Tanks and Civic Societies” Program rated MLI one of the top 20 new think tanks in the world in 2009-10.

Summer Intern Position available

The Macdonald-Laurier Institute for Public Policy is the only think tank in Canada devoted to the national interest, focused exclusively on federal government issues and based in the national capital, where national policy is made and where the national parliament, the national civil service and the national media study and discuss key issues. From the heart of the national debate, MLI reaches out to Canadians everywhere, helping them to understand where this country’s interests lie and working to create a climate of public opinion where thoughtful and effective policy becomes possible.

We are accepting applications from graduate students in any field of public policy relevant to MLI’s mandate, who are interested in a summer internship with the Macdonald-Laurier Institute. The internship will run mid-May to late August.

Interested candidates should submit their resume, two letters of reference, and a short (500 word) description of their proposed internship project, explaining how it relates to MLI’s research priorities.

The successful candidate will be a self-starter, passionate about Canadian politics, and keenly interested in what goes into good public policy.

Email kim.chadsey@macdonaldlaurier.ca for more information and/or to submit your application.

Applications will be accepted until end of business on April 29, 2011.
